Engineers of the future

A TEAM of five, clever-thinking year 9 students from Engadine High School won the national titles of a highly competitive engineering competition.

They were Australian champions in the "development class section" as part of the Rapid Racing F1 Schools Challenge in Adelaide last month, part of Re-Engineering Australia – a non-profit organisation. Their project was funded by Sutherland Business Education Network to generate interest in the engineering and manufacturing industries.

Clarification

A Leader story Immunitisation rates a cause for concern on March 6 said the Health Care Complaints Commission released a public warning about the Australian Vaccination Network (AVN) in July 2010.

The NSW Supreme Court found in February 2012 that the HCCO did not have the jurisdiction to issue such a public warning about the AVN.

Living memorial for the dead

GRIEVING Sutherland Shire residents will be able to honour the memory of a loved one with a tree under a new program adopted by the council – a first for the Sydney region – last Monday.

This week at the movies

NEW movies take audiences from the planet Mars to Paris to Norway, and introduce a new fictional hero from Edgar Rice Burroughs who is not Tazari! After international successes for the series of three books and three films beginning with The Girl With the Dragon Tattoo comes Headhunters.

Downsizing is the trend today

OFF-ROADERS that are not SUVs – we can't get enough of them. Although the whole idea of an SUV has been to offer more space, height and versatility, the latest trend is for downsizing. That translates to the XV for Subaru.

Bundeena festival

ORGANISERS for the 17th annual Art of Living Festival at Bundeena have set aside an entire weekend for the festivities – an evening of theatre at the local RSL club tomorrow night (March 9), then an art show opening and a rock band on Saturday, March 10. The main festival day is Sunday, March 11, at Bundeena Oval from 10am to 6pm. There will be art, music, market and food stalls and children's activities. A free bus shuttle service will run from 10am to 6pm, meeting each hourly ferry from Cronulla. Details: artoflivingfestival.com.au.
